

THE RAINMAKER From the Film "THE RAINMAKER"

By HAL DAVID and ALEX NORTH

The earth was so dry, — not a rain-cloud — in the sky, the rain-mak-er rode through town. — As
 The town-folk were cruel... they just laughed and — called him fool, not one drop of rain ap-peared. — As he came in sight a voice called — in the night. "Oh, please bring us rain, rain-mak-er!" — he rode from town the rain came — fall-ing down, the rain that his pray'rs con-ceived — be-cause some-one with faith be-lieved. —

THE ROAD TO MOROCCO From the Film "THE ROAD TO MOROCCO"

JOHNNY BURKE and JIMMY VAN HEUSEN

Let's meet on the road — to Mo-roc-co, — In-stead of the tun-nel of love;
 meet on the road — to Mo-roc-co, — Though our Brook-lyn moon shines a-bove;
 The de-sert night, the Ar-ab tents, the har-em at-mos-phe-re,
 I'll whis-per how I love you to the strains of na-tive flutes,
 It's the best at-trac-tion Con-ey Is-land has this year. Let's
 And your arms will thrill me more than all the — chute-the- — chutes. Tell the gang so they won't hang a-round — Like Web-ster's Dic-tion-ar-y, we're Mo-roc-co bound.

THE RUBY AND THE PEARL From the Film "THUNDER IN THE EAST"

JAY LIVINGSTON and RAY EVANS

Can love — be as warm as a ru-by? Can love — be as pure as the pearl? Just love — will en-dure as the dis-mond, And shine — with the shim-mer of gold. It look — in the heart of my love for you; You'll find the Ru-by and the Pearl. My hold. Come glows — as a bright star a-bove for you; A thing of beau-ty to be — close — and cling to my kiss, Stay close and share the pas-sion of this. Yes, love — is as warm as the ru-by, And love — is as pure as the pearl; Just look — in the heart of my love for you, — You'll find the Ru-by and the Pearl. The Ru-by and the Pearl.
